international / poetry / post what more could i explain?

words, regardless of their inherent power fail to express infinity, which is natural Be-ing impossible to express, no wordsmith or scribe comes close - tho i must defer to: I AM THAT I AM no-one has expressed it better and so i leave my keyboard to trained monkeys typing all manner of distractions and perversions, intentionally and unintentionally i have spoken myself hoarse yet u do not understand, i have written reams of prose and poetry which appeals and repels but it's all in the power tho always missing the target as the target is everywhere and nowhere

so i look to the silent saints that spoke through their souls, eyes and presence, but my truth is hidden so i appear like any commoner or king but looks are deceiving, silence is honest and clear, as it has nothing to say
