Summer Eyes

by lynx Monday, Oct 25 2010, 6:29pm international / poetry / post a warm summer breeze bathes my skin in delight banishing the winter chill for another season or longer -who knows the future?

the valley begins to stir with life ready to don its summer garment and play host to all manner of life.

a visual symphony unfolds- a poet's delight -- sensual eyes absorb

every part of you;
hands accustomed to weaving
lyric verse
gently trace the contours of ur body/mind -ur entire being we move together in perfect harmony, the warm breeze insulating us from the memory of harsh winter chills birds throat their love calls reminding us that only the future holds promise, Life the past, whether dressed in splendour, rags or both is unable to produce, we resurrect it with memories at times but it is gone forever

today is lush
warm,
its fullness
overwhelms and
soothes the soul
and senses,
its abundance
requires no
assistance
only appreciation,
participation

today is shaping into something special, perhaps a perfect summer day http://cleaves.zapto.org/news/story-2169.html

Underground Oz Poetry. http://ozpoetry.lingama.net/news/poem-155.html