A Vagabond's Lament

by quill Tuesday, Oct 21 2008, 10:42am international / poetry / post

Poetry for wanderers ..

Swagman

Who would write my Epitaph?

When to inarticulate dust I return to slumber for aeons who would speak for me? who would pen a memory?

I have waited an eternity for the smallest formulation perhaps a single word or the stroke of a brush on ricepaper.

No, none of it; only stray dogs take the time to stop and piss on my grave.

The perfect epitaph for one such as me.

Olgas

'Eternity' -- thanks, Arthur

Underground Oz Poetry. http://ozpoetry.lingama.net/news/poem-24.html