

The View from Mount Meru

by stylus Thursday, Sep 19 2013, 12:55pm international / poetry / post from here the universe unfurls before one's eye, forever

in blissful continuity spiralling outward, continuity seen and apprehended - understanding instantaneous, complete,
as this 'view'
necessitates participation, total involvement

[all] secrets reveal themselves from this unified position, nothing is hidden from this perspective everything opens when interrogated and gladly reveals its innermost nature as if it had been waiting to be coaxed into full revelation/disclosure nothing here wishes to dwell in darkness or in secret, would the glory of existence hide and from whom?

all things delight in light and bask in the glory of full exposure here, all things open to this Light from this altitude/attitude the greater harmony becomes clear and the perversity of humankind is seen as incongruous to the harmonious dance of creation killing, lying, thieving and allowing sick minded leaders to create discord and lord over many disturbs the symphony of creation consequences that humankind cannot see are discernible from here inevitable purging of the aberrant from creation and re-establishing harmony, eradicating discord and restoring balance is how the universe asserts its perfect harmony the dance of creation continues

forever
but without the sick and destructive influence of humankind

Underground Oz Poetry. <http://ozpoetry.lingama.net/news/poem-432.html>