

Prelude 2

by sonny Wednesday, Sep 24 2014, 12:56pm

international / poetry / post some bubble

to the surface
seeking expression
others spring, leap
and ooze --

regardless of how
and in what manner
they arrive
they all find expression

erupting from the agonies and ecstasies of life/experience -- they all have something in common, they are never pedestrian or hum-drum

they originate from wild oscillations of the heart and soul charged emotion bursting from deep within the psyche of the artist some issue like

organised conferences workman like
others spurt like semen
from an erect phallus (see it?)

some shudder and pulse forth in excitation
but the result is the same,
a fine piece of work

few describe the origination and incubation prior to emergence, so i will do my best when they approach a slight tugging is felt in the solar plexus a mild urgency grips being, a cognitive/autistic agitation

they work their way around the heart to the limbus
and brain
to erupt through the aperture at the crown of the head -- they have entered the formative phase
as i write now
on a medium

it's almost done,
a tweak here
an adjustment there
and we have a
poem

rather than write a poem i have written a prelude to a poem but lacking
that special quality that pure poetry is able to deliver

Underground Oz Poetry. <http://ozpoetry.lingama.net/news/poem-535.html>