

Twist and Turn

sometimes i twist
at other times i turn,
court jester to my self

gyrating turning
like galaxies in space
befits my whirling,
turning, temperament

to a cosmic dance synchronised, court jester to the stars

but i always return
to my form in the theatre where i dance

and when rigidity
and ossification confront i begin to spin again until that which is immobile moves and happily joins the dance
