The Way

i must return to the Way where meaninglessness has meaning and the autumn leaves that once rustled in the wind lay fallen crunching underfoot where the sun rises and sets without the need to presume and the moon passively receives its light, shining silver in a motionless pond but there's no point in returning as i have never left nor could i or anything else that exists in the interplay of dreams and realities longing for the Way is self-deceit so i simply find my way without taking trails or roads that lead nowhere or at best, places that i have outworn it is good to have been a fool, scholar, monk, magician thief and madman, it is good to have been hanged, honoured, abused, tortured, murdered and loved, so many times i have lost count

if u see a familiar phantom in the sky, forest or urban place that appears and disappears do not think of me, or follow what u see as you would only find yourself searching fruitlessly for what you already have
