No Fixed Address

is how the regulatory 'authorities' list my abode, which classification is quite correct as in 'my place' hangs a shingle 'home sweet home,' what home?

surely not the homes with street addresses fixed in locations with their benefits and problems, no, my 'sweet home' is not so easily located by the mundane yet i exist and have lived in my sweet abode free from all tribulations as i have no way of entry or exit my home has no doors, only windows

i have a favourite seat like most homes have for their occupants, but it's not a chair or an elevation from the ceiling/floor, yes, my abode has neither ceiling nor floor my seat is situated in the centre of Existence which is my sweet home to which i have happily returned only to realise that i have never left, how very sweet that is
